

CHANGE YOUR MINDSET: MOVING FROM COMPANIES ACT 1965 TO COMPANIES ACT 2016

COURSE INTRODUCTION

This course is designed to tackle the most difficult issue in change management – change of mindset. While the Companies Act 2016 was specifically designed to make the incorporation and administration of companies in Malaysia easier and cheaper, for existing companies, it requires the right mindset for its full benefits to be reaped. As with all procedures and processes, change is challenging, especially with regards to long existing habits. This course is designed to assist existing companies to look at the Companies Act 2016 in its own right to unlock the benefits it can bring to established companies and businesses in Malaysia.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This course will look into the preferred method for companies established under the Companies Act 1965 to unlock the many benefits available under the Act.

COURSE CONTENTS

The course is divided in three parts. In the first part, participants will examine a company set up under the Companies Act 1965 and then examine the decisions that would need to be made with respect to the changes brought about by the Companies Act 2016, focusing predominantly on those that are mandatory.

In the second part, the participants will examine setting up a new company under the Companies Act 2016 and the decisions that would need to be made in doing so. This will invariably focus on the options provided by the 2016 Act.

In the third part, the two processes will be examined to see which would be the better approach to take- changing only what is necessary, or considering the 2016 Act as the starting point for administering the company.
