

PREFERENCE SHARES - STEPS TO ISSUE, REDEEM AND CONVERT

 Mabul Island, Sabah

COURSE INTRODUCTION

A company may raise working capital by the traditional way of issuing ordinary shares. However, the return on such investments may not be attractive enough for certain types of investors who would prefer fixed dividends and return of capital at an earlier period. Unlike ordinary shares, preference shares give the investors greater upside potential and a level of downside protection in return for their investments. The Companies Act 2016 ("the Act") has provision for redemption of preference shares out of capital of the company and this enables a company to redeem the preference shares even though there is insufficient profit. This proves advantageous as the company can still commit to the return of capital without the need to undertake a capital reduction exercise to return the preference capital.

PREFERENCE SHARES - STEPS TO ISSUE, REDEEM AND CONVERT

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This course will guide participants on the regulations surrounding the issuance and redemption or conversion of preference shares and its use as a financial instrument. The different rights attached to the preference shares would be explained with illustration to enable the participants to appreciate the strategic considerations for the issuance of preference shares.

This course will review the steps to be taken on issuance of such preference shares and the determination if the preference shares are to be classified as equity or liabilities. It will provide participants with a better understanding on how to choose the three different manners of redemption as provided in the Act and guide the participants on the actions to take for the redemption or conversion of the preference shares.

COURSE CONTENTS

- Differences between ordinary shares and preference shares.
- Strategic consideration for issuance of preference shares – advantages and disadvantages.
- Types of preference shares – cumulative, redeemable, participative and convertible.
- Variation of rights of preference shares.
- Differentiating the classification of preference shares as equity or liability.
- Step by step guide to issuance of preference shares including determination of the rights.
- Step by step guide to redemption of preference shares.
- Step by step guide to conversion of preference shares.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND
