

SUBSTANTIAL SHAREHOLDERS REPORTING & MAINTENANCE OF REGISTER

 Mantanani Islands, Sabah

COURSE INTRODUCTION

Under the Companies Act 2016 ("Act"), a substantial shareholder in Malaysia is any person (individual or body corporate) holding an interest in 5% or more of the total voting shares of a company or interest in 5% or more of the total voting shares in a class of shares of a company. The substantial shareholder must notify the company of their interest, changes in interest, or when they cease to be a substantial shareholder within stipulated timeline to the Company and to the Registrar of Companies if it relates to shares of a public listed company. Section 8 of the Act defines what constitutes an 'interest in shares' and it is common to come across the term 'direct interest' and 'indirect interest/deem interest' in shares, but these terms are not found in Section 8 of the Act.

The company on receipt of the notification is required under Section 144 of the Act to enter the information into the Register of Substantial Shareholders. The company must keep and maintain the Register of Substantial Shareholders for inspection. Where the company is listed on the Malaysian Stock Exchange, the company is required to make immediate disclosure to the Exchange upon receipt of such notification to ensure transparency regarding individuals or entities who can significantly influence company decision.
