

DISCLOSURES BY DIRECTORS AND SHAREHOLDERS

COURSE INTRODUCTION

Company directors have fiduciary duties to act in the best interests of the company, rather than of themselves. This fiduciary duty would be affected if they have not disclosed interests which are in conflict with the company's interest. The dealing in the securities by the company directors and shareholders if not made known to the Company, investors and regulators, may enable such company directors and shareholders to manipulate the market. For this reason, disclosure rules and regulations have been embedded in the Companies Act 2016 ("CA2016"), Capital Market & Services Act 2007 ("CMSA") and Bursa Securities Listing Requirements ("LR") to safe-guard the interests of the investors.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

The course will look at the statutory requirements of such disclosures and the duties imposed on the directors, shareholders and other persons where such disclosures are warranted. It will also highlight the restricted dealing periods for such persons and the mechanism for listed companies to ensure those privy to material information do not undertake share transaction.

COURSE CONTENTS

- Review the duties imposed on directors in a position of conflict.
- Review the statutory requirements for the disclosure of directors' interest in shares, options and debentures of the company.
- Discuss what constitutes an interest in shares and debentures.
- Review the disclosure of emoluments.
- Discuss the directors' and substantial shareholders' duty to notify the company and other regulators.
- Restricted dealing periods.
- Best practices to comply with the regulatory requirements.
